Introduction

This leaflet provides information on the Acute Oncology Service and how the Team can provide support for you.

What is the Acute Oncology Service?

The Acute Oncology Service has been developed to support patients with cancer who present to hospital as an emergency. This could be because of a complication from your cancer treatment, symptoms related to your cancer, or because you have had a scan that suggests you may have a new cancer.

Members of the Acute Oncology Team

The Acute Oncology Service is run by the Acute Oncology Team. The team consists of staff experienced in the care of cancer patients including:

- Consultant Medical Oncologists
- Acute Oncology Nurse Specialists
- Acute Oncology Care Co-ordinator

How the Acute Oncology Team can help

The Acute Oncology Team can provide support for you and specialist Oncology advice, to help:

- improve the quality of your care during your stay in hospital
- provide advice on managing side effects e.g., sore mouth, infection, nausea & vomiting
- ensure that you only have appropriate tests and investigations
- ensure that you are not kept in hospital longer than necessary
- provide advice and support for clinical staff looking after you
- ensure that you are seen as quickly as possible by other specialists when needed

The Acute Oncology Team has good links with the wards and departments within the Hospital as well as the Cancer Care Suite, Christie Hotline and Palliative Care Team. This helps the Team work closely with the doctors and nurses already caring for you to provide better access to information, specialist support and advice.

Ask 3 Questions

Become more involved in decisions about your healthcare. You may be asked to make choices about your treatment. To begin with, try to make sure you get the answers to three key questions:

1. What are my options?
2. What are the positives and negatives of each option for me?
3. How do I get support to help me make a decision that is right for me?
