Ask 3 Questions

Become more involved in decisions about your healthcare. You may be asked to make choices about your treatment. To begin with, try to make sure you get the answers to three key questions:

1. What are my options?
2. What are the pros and cons of each option for me?
3. How do I get support to help me make a decision that is right for me?

What is hearing therapy?

Hearing therapy is a service within the Adult Audiology Department that covers a range of management and rehabilitation options for people with a hearing loss and/or hearing aids.

How can hearing therapy help?

Hearing therapy can help by giving information, advice, and practical support for a range of areas, including:

- Help with an application to Access to Work. This is a scheme run by the Department of Work and Pensions that can provide funding towards necessary equipment or support services, to help you gain and maintain employment.
- Advice about equipment that may be useful for everyday life or work-based situations. This includes telephone training if appropriate.
- A range of communication options. We can advise on the use of communication tactics and skills; we can give sessions for lip-reading practice and we can complete auditory training exercises to help with sound processing skills.

- Assertiveness training to help you to gain the maximum benefit and help from people and your environment, with confidence.
- Tinnitus advice and management skills.
- Other options are also available depending on the situation and needs of the individual, including counselling, relaxation techniques and rehabilitation and hearing aid management techniques.

The Hearing Therapist can complete a follow up with you after you have been to the Transition Clinic. The Hearing Therapist can discuss and assess your individual needs at this follow up and then book further appointments if necessary.
